Over the past 30 years, much has been written about legal rights, healthcare policies and procedures, and confidentiality measures specific to sexually transmitted infections (STIs) including HIV. Program faculty will provide a forum for the presentation and discussion regarding Alabama laws and the State Board of Health's rules and regulations specific to STIs/HIV. Information regarding how these laws, as well as Federal law, apply to the practice of case management are also provided. While this information pertains to practitioners and public health employees in Alabama, participants from other states and jurisdictions are welcome to view this program.
