Introduction

This directory has been developed as a resource guide to provide contact information for programs offering diabetes education and support throughout Alabama. Also included is a listing of statewide assistance programs and organizations providing a variety of services. This directory serves as a vital tool for people seeking education or assistance for diabetes and related diseases.

With the prevalence of diabetes steadily rising in Alabama the provision of education, support, and assistance is of the utmost importance. Every attempt has been made to ensure that the information within this resource directory is accurate. This document is not all inclusive. Those interested in being included in this directory should contact the Alabama Department of Public Health Diabetes Branch at (334) 206-5300 or (800) 252-1818.

STRATEGIES TO DELAY OR PREVENT THE ONSET OF TYPE 2 DIABETES:

- Achieve and maintain a healthy weight
- Be more physically active
- Maintain a healthy blood pressure
- Eat a healthy diet
 - Eat foods rich in fiber
 - Eat the recommended five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables daily
 - Use less salt
- Have your cholesterol checked regularly, and keep it low
- Stop smoking and tobacco use, if you smoke or use tobacco products

Diabetes in Alabama

According to 2009 data released from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), over 12% of people in Alabama have been diagnosed with diabetes, and thousands are unaware that they even have the disease. Alabama ranks among the top five states in the nation for the prevalence of diabetes, surpassing the national average. Diabetes is the 7th leading cause of death in the state and directly contributes to the incidence of heart disease and stroke. It is also the primary cause of kidney failure, non-trauma related limb amputations, and adult onset blindness.

Adults with diabetes are two to four times more likely to die of heart disease or have a stroke than adults without diabetes. Left untreated or uncontrolled, diabetes can also lead to other complications, including nerve damage, dental disease, and pregnancy complications. Diabetes can directly cause acute life-threatening events such as diabetic coma and heart attack, and people with diabetes are more susceptible to many other illnesses such as influenza and pneumonia.

Self-management of diabetes is the key to preventing complications. It is important that people living with diabetes learn how to manage the disease and maintain good health. This directory is intended to direct people living with diabetes to educational programs, support groups, and other resources that can help promote and sustain healthy behaviors that will help avert complications and improve the quality and length of life.

Approximately
434,800
Alabamians have been diagnosed with diabetes.
